

HORRIBLE DREAM

Once open a time , I was sleeping in my room. I had a horrible dream that I was travelled by a train with my parents then suddenly the bridge was broken and the train was fell into the river. So many people were screaming and cried for help. My parents were gone far from me. Then I was crying and felt helpless. So many people were died. I thought that my parents also died. I reached to a forest which was strange for me. I was crying and nobody was able to listen my yell. I was lonely in the forest. But luckily my parents were alive. Then they found me in the forest and hugged with love.

At last I was awoken by my mother. I prayed to god so that such type of dream should not come again. And also not to come true. I can not live without my parents.
